

FORT LEAVENWORTH LAMP

Thursday

Serving the community of Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for more than 35 years

August 9, 2007

News at a Glance

■ The Post Activities Information and Registration Day is 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Aug. 11 at Sherman Army Airfield. PAIR Day provides information about Morale, Welfare and Recreation activities, private organizations, local clubs and businesses. Call 684-3200 for information.

■ Some empty family quarters will be burned Aug. 14-17 for firefighter training. The housing units, on Hunt Road near the Hancock Avenue Gate, were previously scheduled for demolition.

■ The Women's Equality Day luncheon is 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Aug. 23 at the Frontier Conference Center. Tickets are $7.50 and are available through Aug. 15 from unit equal opportunity representatives, Special Emphasis Program Committee members and the EO Office at 684-1694.

Weekend Weather

Today: Mostly sunny and hot; High: Upper 90s; Low: Upper 70s.

Friday: Mostly sunny and hot; High: Upper 90s; Low: Upper 70s.

Saturday: Mostly sunny and hot; High: Near 100; Low: Mid-70s.

Sunday: Mostly sunny and hot; High: Near 100; Low: Mid-70s.

Weather information from the National Weather Service

Inside

Perspective	2
Around the Force	3
Post Notes	6
Entertainment	8
Lamp Ads	23

Contact

Phone: 684-5267
Fax: 684-3624
E-mail: editor@ftleavenworthlamp.com
Web: www.ftleavenworthlamp.com

CGSC honors authors, instructors

by Tisha Johnson
Staff Writer

Command and General Staff College faculty and staff gathered in the Lewis and Clark Center's Marshall Auditorium Aug. 6 to see some of their colleagues recognized for their contributions to the college.

Deputy Commandant Brig. Gen. Mark O'Neill said the focus for the next week will be the new building that houses CGSC, but right then he wanted to recognize the faculty and staff.

"In fact, the Command and General Staff College is made up of the people sitting in these very ... chairs," O'Neill said. "The college hasn't changed."

O'Neill told the staff and faculty that they were building the future of not only the institution and the Army, but the armies of many other nations and sister services.

O'Neill likened the current engagements in Iraq and Afghanistan to a world war.

"You, the staff and faculty of the college, are preparing the officers of the United States, and our friends and allies, to wage that world war," O'Neill said.

Faculty and staff were recognized with Golden Pen, Instructors of the Year and service awards.

The Golden Pen program recognizes faculty for published writing contributions that enhance the mission of the college. Faculty publications are nominated by the GPA review board committee and approved by the CGSC deputy commandant.

Awards are given on three levels: gold, bronze and silver. The gold award is for a book or book-length series of articles. An article or chapter of a book in a publication is eligible for the silver award and the bronze award recognizes a significant book review, op-ed piece or letter to the editor.

Golden Pen awards were presented to:

Dr. James Corum, of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for "Fighting the War on Terror: a Counterinsurgency Strategy."

Col. Garland Williams, of the Army Management Staff College, for "Engineering Peace: The Military Role in Postconflict Reconstruction."

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) William McCoy, CGSC chaplain, for "Under Orders: A Spiritual Handbook for Military Personnel."

Dr. James Willbanks, of the Department of Military History, for "The Tet Offensive: A Concise History."

Silver Pen awards were presented to:

Dr. David Anderson, of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for "Lessons Learned: The Economic Instrument of National Power and Military Operations — With Focus on Iraq," soon to be published in Military Review.

Dr. Richard Barbuto, of the Department of Military History, for "America's War of 1812," a chapter in "Daily Lives of Civilians in Wartime Early America," published by the Greenwood press in 2007.

Dr. Alexander Bielakowski, of the Department of Military History, for "General Hawkin's War: The Future of the Horse in the U.S. Cavalry," published in the January 2007 issue of The Journal of Military History.

Thomas Bradbeer, of the Department of Command Leadership, for "Air Battle over the Somme," soon to be published in Aviation History Magazine.

Dr. James Corum, of the

Dr. James S. Corum, of the Department of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, is presented a Golden Pen award from Command and General Staff College Deputy Commandant Brig. Gen. Mark O'Neill during O'Neill's address to CGSC faculty and staff Aug. 6 in Marshall Auditorium in the Lewis and Clark Center. Corum received the Golden Pen, which is awarded for a book or book-length article, and a Silver Pen award, presented for a significant article in a major publication.

Prudence Siebert

The Golden Pen is awarded for a book or book-length article.

Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for "Luftwaffe Intelligence: How it Viewed the U.S. Army Air Forces," published in "Winged Crusade: the Quest for American Air and Space Power" in December 2006.

Louis DiMarco, of the Department of Military History, for "Losing the Moral Compass: Torture and Guerre Revolutionnaire in the Algerian War," published in the summer 2006 issue of Parameters.

Dr. Mark Gerges, of the Department of Military History, for "Those Complicated Maneuvers of Dundas: British Cavalry Doctrine, 1793-1814," soon to be published in "Consortium on the Revolutionary Era, 1750-1850."

Dr. (Lt. Col) Prisco Hernandez, of Reserve Component Programs, for "Developing Cultural Understanding in Stability Operations: A Three-Step Process," published in the January/February 2007 issue of Field Artillery Journal.

Dr. John Kuehn, of the Department of Military History, for "Withdraw and Win: Gaining Insight from Defeat," published in the December 2006 issue of United States Naval Institute Proceedings.

William Lambert, of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for "US-Central Asian Security Cooperation: Misunderstandings, Miscommunications and Missed Opportunities," published in November 2006 by Combat Studies Institute Press.

Scott Porter, of the Center for Army Tactics, for "Bashi Bazouks and Rebels Too: Action at Camden Point, July 13, 1864," published in the January 2007 issue of Missouri Historical Review.

Dr. James J. Schneider, of the School of Advanced Military Studies, for "Agents of Change: Transforming the Principles of War for the Twenty-First Century," published in the July 2006 issue of Army Magazine.

Dr. Ted Thomas, of the Department of Command Leadership, for "The Leadership Battlebook: A Practical Approach to

See CGSC awards, Page 9

■ The Lewis and Clark Center will be dedicated in a ceremony at 10 a.m. Aug. 13. The dedication of the $115 million state-of-the-art educational facility will be preceded at 8:30 a.m. by the traditional international flag ceremony signifying the August start of the Command and General Staff Officer Course. All events are open to the public.

See a preview, starting on Pages 14 and 15.

CGSC awards (continued from Page 1)

Leader Self-Development,” published in the September-October 2006 issue of Military Review.

Dr. Bradford Wineman, of the Department of Military History, for “J.T.L. Preston and the Origins of the Virginia Military Institute,” published in the summer 2006 issue of Virginia Magazine of History and Biography.

Dr. Christian Keller, of the Department of Military History, for “All We Ask is Justice: German-American Reactions to Chancellorsville,” published in Volume 41 of the Yearbook of German-American Studies, 2006.

Maj. Paul Wakefield, of the Department of Logistics and Resource Operations, for “Polymer Advances in the Interwar Period: The Impact of Science on WWII,” published in the March/April 2006 issue of Army Logistician.

Dr. Christopher Paporone, of the Department of Logistics and Resource Operations, for “The Reflective Military Practitioner: How Military Professionals Think in Action,” soon to be published in Military Review.

Dr. Nicholas E. Sarantakee, of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for “President of the Historians: Theodore Roosevelt and the American Historical Association,” published in 2006 in White House Studies.

Richard Tracey, of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for “Trapped by Mindset: The Iraq WMD Intelligence Failure,” published in Chronicles, the online companion to Air & Space Power Journal in January 2007.

Bronze Pen awards were presented to:

Dr. (Lt. Col.) Prisco Hernandez, of Reserve Component Programs, for four book reviews in Military Review and Military Review Iberoamerican Edition.

Dr. Deborah C. Kidwell, of the Department of Military History, for two book reviews in Military Review and Vietnam.

Dr. Ethan Rafuse, of the Department of Military History, for five book reviews in H-CivWar, War in History, America’s Civil War, Arkansas Historical Quarterly and Parameters.

Dr. Stephen Bourque, of the Department of Military History, for three book reviews in Joint Forces Quarterly, Canadian Journal of History and Teaching History.

Dr. Nicholas Sarantakee, of the Department of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations, for three book reviews and one opinion piece in Air & Space Power Journal, Intelligence and National Security, H-War and Augusta Chronicle.

The Instructor of the Year awards recognize instructors for their accomplishments in the classroom. Candidates submit to an interview by a faculty committee who also review a tape of each of the candidate’s classroom instruction. The winners will represent CGSC and Fort Leavenworth in the Training and Doctrine Command’s Instructor of the Year competition.

The CGSC overall Military Instructor of the Year is Lt. Col. John Curatola of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations. The CGSC overall Civilian Instructor of the Year is Peter Gibson of the Center for Army Tactics.

The following are Instructors of the Year from their respective departments or schools: Lt. Col. Steven Raamer, of the Air Force Element; Ralph E. Taylor, of the Army Management Staff College; Ted

Peter Gibson, Center for Army Tactics, turns to the audience after being named CGSC Civilian Instructor of the Year Aug. 6.

Prudence Siebert photos

Air Force Element Instructor of the Year Lt. Col. Steven Raamer is honored by Command and General Staff College Deputy Commandant Brig. Gen. Mark O’Neill during O’Neill’s address to CGSC faculty and staff Aug. 6.

Thomas, of the Department of Command Leadership; Lt. Col. Gregory F. Sierra, of the Center for Army Tactics; Clay Easterling, of the Directorate of Joint, Interagency and Multinational Operations; Maj. Paul Wakefield and Lowell Soleen, of the Department of Logistics and Resource Operations, Dr. Sean Kalick, of the Department of Military History; and Lt. Col. Ross Brown, of the School for Command Preparation.

Awards were also given to individuals for their service to the Army and CGSC. Douglas R. Loa was awarded with the Superior Civilian Service Award. Karin Brightwell and Venita Krueger were each recognized for 30 years of service and Ken Wilson was recognized for a combined 25 years of active duty and federal service.

Dr. Scott Stephenson and Susan Rosell each received the deputy commandant’s coin, and Luther Peters, Michael Dean, Lt. Col. John Conti, Jake Pennington, Pam Brown, Randy Buddish and Don Middleton were each recognized for their contributions to the CGSC mission.